Newark 2, N. J.

My dear Mrs. Manley:

On April 24th you advised me that you were shipping 12 pair of baseball shoes to me and in your letter you advised the cost of them.

Upon arrival of the shoes, I unpacked them and was somewhat dismayed to discover a rather poor run of sizes. Despite this, I did contact the clubhouse men of the three Major League teams in New York but without success. They had no outlet for these unusual sizes and the situation was made somewhat worse by the fact that one of my competitors is producing shoes and has taken a good deal of orders from the local professional ball-players.

Under these circumstances and I am sure that you will approve, I am returning the 12 pair of shoes to you today via Express, prepaid.

You incurred an expense of 81¢ for the expressage from Newark to New York and I am, therefore, reimbursing you this expenditure by enclosing my check for this amount. If any other expenses were incurred by you in your efforts to be of help to me, I hope that you will let me know and I shall send you my check for the amount involved very promptly.

Cordially,

Howard Bosman
